The Never Ending Story

Helen Hume was the lady in charge
Quarte was filled with the rich odor of roses and when the light summer wind stirred among the trees of the garden, there came through the open door the heavy scent of the lilac, or the more delicate perfume of the blue flowers that grew as a bright, warm early September.
The Falcons were that year. Their region as the champions.
The Never Ending Story
It was the year
1986 at Quart

Having a good time — Three freshmen enjoy their lunch after a grueling day.

Life Is a Never Ending Story

There are endless chapters in the book of life, and our high school years are just a part of the beginning of the story. The high school may seem endless, but remember how the time has flown since we first started to learn our ABC's.

Although high school is rough and grueling, there are many rewards that will help us in the future chapters. The book is endless and the chapters vary. No two characters are alike and no two chapters are the same.

The freshmen year was filled with pages of a difficult transition. In the eighth grade, we just knew we had all the knowledge and experience it takes to conquer the world, then our balloon burst when we were referred to as "lowly," but with the help of others, we fit somehow.

"Sophomoritis," is the term so commonly used for the second year of high school. Now we are someone with the upperhand. We thought we knew all the ropes, but sometimes we realized that we pulled some of the wrong ones.

A class that is in between stages and caught somewhere in the middle of the book is the junior class. Past the foolish stage, but not yet at the turning point of the book, they eagerly await the climax, graduation from D.H.S.

The senior year, in many ways, can be compared to the freshman year. Not only are we involved with school activities, but we're ready to start another phase of life, beginning at the bottom again in a new job or in a new college. We are setting the plot for the future. Our theme depends on us.

Life goes on to repeat itself, year after year, as new generations with the same wants, needs, and desires follow their predecessors to repeat "The Never Ending Story."

Charles Smith

Cool it now — The Seniors lip synch to the song "Cool it Now."

Hard at work — Senior, Cedric Coleman tries to survive A&I.

We can do it! — Alexa Luera & Joe Smith prepare for the pep rally games.

Partay! — The student body enjoys a good dance after a rough game.

Get this! — "Take our picture," says Blaine Kennison.

The Characters Of The Story

There are different types of characters in the Never Ending Story. The people are what Duarte is: its spirit, its vitality, and its uniqueness.

You should see what Gumby can do today!

Is it Tubbs or is it Dietrich?

Who knows what thoughts lurk in the minds of these students?
Alfonso Sanchez takes time out from difficult lessons to smile for the camera.

What the? . . . Jeff Perkins is surprised to find the light of knowledge in his locker.

Administration

Dr. Alan L. Johnson, Principal

TO THE CLASS OF 1986

On behalf of the teachers and staff at Duarte High School, I would like to acknowledge and salute the achievements of our students. Often we think of achievements as victories, conquests, reaching great heights or attaining momentous goals. To those whose achievements are as great as this: congratulations. But, to the majority of us whose achievements are somewhat smaller, remember: every new thought, every new friend, every book read, every attempt to better ourselves, our environment or the people we live and work with, every time we try when the rest of our lives seems to say "don't" — every one of these is an achievement. My message is simple: when you reflect upon the 1985-86 school year, remember that all of your achievements, large or small, expand your horizons, validate your endeavors, and make the staff at Duarte High School proud.

Mr. Julian Rodriguez, Assistant Principal

Mr. Al Scalise, Assistant Principal

Guys and Gals Meet Your Super Seniors

The 1985-86 Duarte High School Seniors are truly special. They are a class that has experienced many different changes. Changes such as a closed campus, the removal of a smoking area, the regime of three different principals, and the addition and departure of many teachers are examples.

Through all these changes the Seniors have emerged as one of the most highly spirited and dedicated classes to graduate from Duarte High School. Their enthusiasm and zest for life are incomparable and will be a positive force that will follow them throughout their lives.

Marching to a different beat — Marty Atencio is drumming to the beat at a Duarte High Pep Rally.

Top — Joe Smith and Beverly Ball are hard at work in A&I. Below — Vicente Figueroa, LaRynda Schumaker, and Johanna Campos out to lunch.

Senior Style

The past four years in high school have been like pages in a book. We are now graduating and ending yet another chapter. We must remember that although this chapter has come to a close, we are still very inexperienced. There are still many more pages to be turned which will lead to new and unknown places, but we must remind ourselves not to turn the pages until we have finished the one we are living. We cannot forget those who have helped us and advised us to get where we are now in this "Never Ending Story" — our parents, teachers, and friends.

We are the Senior Class of 1986. We hope that all the classes following us are as successful and achieve their most desired hopes and dreams in the story of life.

Danny Tolliver
Senior Class President

Pep Rallies, Food Booths, Fund Raisers and More

Life for students at D.H.S. goes beyond academics. One could always find something new and exciting to expand creativity and imagination. From following and redirecting the fashion trend to finding a part-time job, Duarte High students found what they were looking for.

Dances, both traditional and progressive, as well as football and other games, were favorite escapes for the belabored students. Opportunities were theirs to show school spirit, while attending pep rallies, supporting foods booths and engaging in fund raisers. Whether related to arts, sports, or just plain fun, you'll always find the Duarte students ready and willing.

Play that music — The band gets down during the homecoming halftime.

The answer is . . . — Srs. Henry Milton and Johanna Campos think of an answer during "The Newlywed Game."

Homecoming Court 1985

There was a tense excitement in the air, and many students ran around in a hectic frenzy. Was this because of a sudden epidemic? Or was it that school was closed forever? No, it was because of the great day known as Homecoming. Many students were preparing for the night's excitement which included a great game against Rosemead and the festivities during halftime. Everyone wondered who would be queen, would it be Kelly Lawson, Tanya Dawn Hildebrand, Alexa Luera, Sabrina Yap, or Nancy Van Houten? Everyone waited patiently as they watched the fireworks spell out ALEXA. Alexa Luera was the 1985-86 Homecoming Queen.

Let's Make Money

Duarte High students, like students at most other high schools, have after school jobs. From fast-food chains, to pumping gas, the students can usually find someway to earn money for their wants and needs.

Mountains of Murals

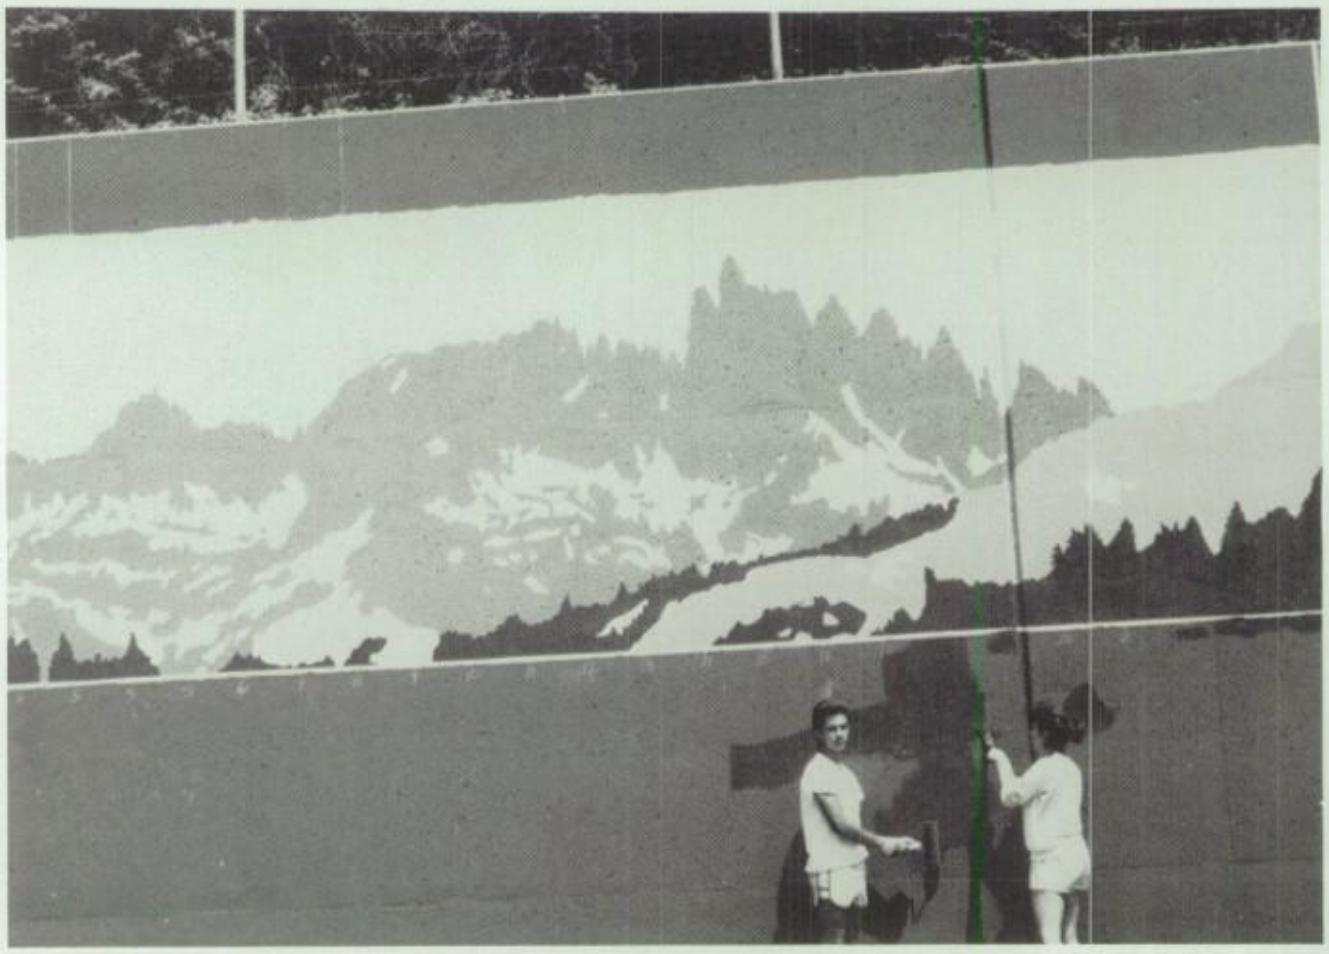
Over the summer of 1985, four Duarte High students (Yolanda Bayon, Mike Cosgrove, Jamie Diaz, and Anthony Porter) with the help of their Art teacher (Ms. Shill Scott) painted murals of mountains around the world on the corner of the freeway wall at Mountain Ave. and Ever Green St. The project took from June 26 to August 14. Four days a week, eight long, hot hours a day, the Artists created nine scenes of beauty to go along with the one they had painted last winter of the San Bernardino Range. Some scenes are the High Sierras, the Canadian Rockies, the Colorado Plateau, and the Swiss Alps, which is 52 feet long. The Freeway murals are well appreciated by the community.



1. The Green Street Murals. 2. Mike Cosgrove works on his tan as he applies delicate brushstrokes to "The Alps." 3. Jamie and Yolanda put the final touches on "The High Sierras." 4. The three artists try to work regardless of the unbearable heat. 5. All smiles, Anthony Porter carefully plans out his next move. 6. Mike, Yolanda, and Jamie "In the Beginning."

VARSITY FOOTBALL

"Quickness and No Mistakes," was the name of the game this year. Without any size this year, the DUARTE FALCONS had to rely on their quickness. Especially playing big teams such as, Crespi, Ganesha, and Arroyo. Even with a bad pre-season, the FALCONS fired up to be 4-1 in the league. But unfortunately, forfeits to Murphy and Mt. View caused the FALCONS to be eliminated from the playoffs. Even with the final record of 3-7, the FALCONS obtained their PRIDE.

▲ Showing their PRIDE and CONFIDENCE in the team are Lee Wright and David Olson.

▲ FOOTBALL is having the courage to take off when others are sitting still.

The Girl's Volleyball team was a dominant force this year. They spiked, served, and hit with the best of them. Although they didn't have a perfect record, they put up many good fights. Their energy and spirit thrived throughout the year, and the games were always exciting. The Duarte High School Volleyball team is a force that shouldn't be taken lightly.

Be All That You Can Be, and Be a Part of It in One of D.H.S.'s Many Clubs

The more adventurous students can utilize their extra curricular talents by joining one of the many clubs that are offered on campus. From soaring down the slopes of Aspen to joining the international circle, Duarte students abound with enthusiasm. School spirit supported sport teams to victory while SRC, CSF and ASB encouraged academics.

La Vida Nueva promoted its cultural aspect of life and offered "off the wall" fun. Musicians from the Choir, Ensemble, and Band blew away the clouds of boredom and whipped up a storm of excitement with their many talents.

Students become involved on campus with fervor to make their free time work for them in the Never Ending Story.

Bright smiles await customers when ski club members sell taquitos.

Making The Grade

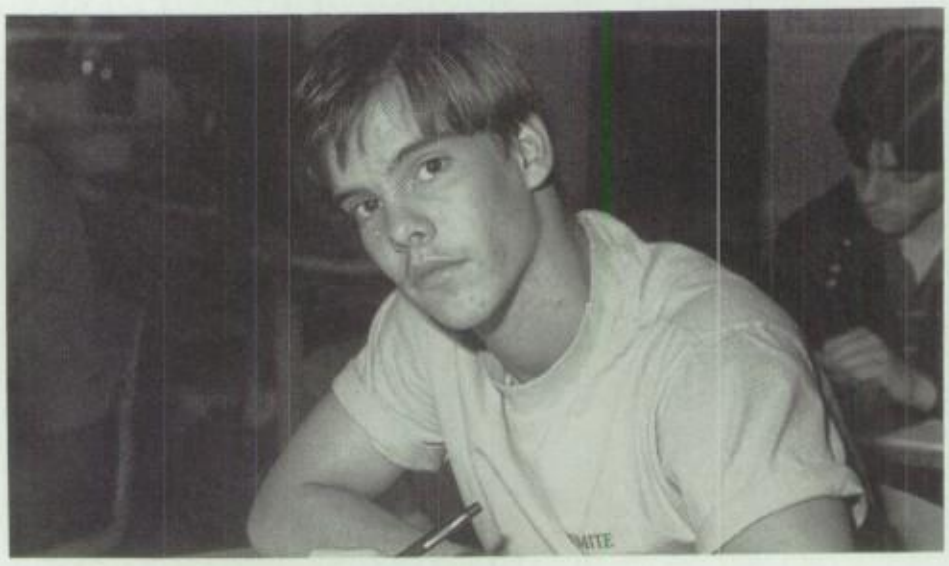
Hard at work — A D.H.S. sophomore tries to survive a test.

Duarte High students are offered courses which reflect on the past while at the same time change with today and look forward to the future which enhances the Never Ending Story of life.

From a class in music appreciation, to classes in consumer education and speech and drama, Duarte High School's curriculum continuous to prepare the student for the future, as well as recognizing the needs of today.

Sleeping on the job — As class is taught, Danny Ramirez decides to catch some Z's.

O.K. teacher, I'll do my work!



What are you looking at!

"I can't concentrate" — A Duarte High Student has other things on his mind besides work.

"Summing-up"

The Math department had a terrific year. Teachers were able to dedicate more of their time to developing programs to promote student learning incentives. They also provided special individual attention to their students, thus allowing the pupils to learn at their own pace. Mr. Harry, head of the Math department, summed up his feelings about the importance of math to the students of today by saying that every student should have Mathematical power to be successful in everything they do.

Knowing Why

Duarte has developed an exceptional science department. Mr. Schneidman confirms this with his statement that there's been a continued growth in the expansion in Duarte's science curriculum, specifically in the fields of Health and Chemistry which are important to the college bound students.

Cultural Relations

According to Ms. Hudson, the Social Science Dept. has developed an information curriculum. Some of the course work includes World History, U.S. History, Government, and Economics. In these classrooms students are awakened to a provocative changing world and its future expectations.

A&I And Economics

Mr. Flores says that American Government this year was one of high hopes in that D.H.S. students would gain insight into not only the American government, but that of other nations also. As the seniors Economics instructor, he feels that this was a challenging and enlightening course. "This year's senior class was a lively and lighthearted group of people to work with." He's happy to have been there to provide them with valuable information that will be useful to them the rest of their lives.

Necessary Communication

An understanding of the fundamental skills of effective communication is essential to a student's education. Giving him training is one of the responsibilities of the English Dept.

Proficiency in verbal expression and analysis is stressed in a wide range of reading and composition courses. To further this endeavor, a much needed class in speech and drama was added.

Art

The head of Duarte High's Art Dept., Ms. Scott, says that this year she has a crop of really talented students, expecially in beginning art. This year's class is artistically above average. She hopes these fine students will follow up with Advanced Art classes.

Business

Ms. Sweetman sums up her feelings about Duarte's Business Department by saying that the department here has presented students with the best technology and training to be successful adults. They've learned communication skills which are especially valuable in this day and age. She feels our Business Department is the most valuable contribution Duarte High has made to their students.

Foreign Languages

"The Foreign Language Department has made significant strides this year," Mr. Douglass told us. "Several different activities such as entering speech contests at Citrus Community College, putting on one act plays for the benefit of the middle school only added to the strength of this department. All in all, the year was challenging and academically very strong. 'Que sigamos aprendiendo, leyendo y estudiando!' "
